UN Heads for Free for All Congo Debate

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council headed into a free-for-all debate on the Congo today after voting to hear charges from both sides in the dispute.

Russia launched a bitter assault against the United States and Belgium Wednesday night in a vain attempt to block discussion of Premier Moise Tshombe's charges that Moscow has been aiding the Congolese rebels.

After a sharp exchange between the Soviet and American delegates, the council rejected the Russian demand that it ignore Tshombe's charges that at least three African countries were shipping aid to the rebels with Russia's help.

The council voted 7-4 to take up Tshombe's charges as well as the charge by 22 nations, most of them African, that the recent U.S.-Belgian parachute operation to rescue white hostages from the rebels was interference in the Congo's internal affairs.

The debate, closed to the public to prevent demonstrations, was expected to heat up still more after Tshombe arrives Saturday to argue his case.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko called the Congo rebellion a "holy struggle" against imperialism and brand-

Another Try to Launch Titan 3

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force planned another attempt today to launch the Titan 3, a military space rocket on an orbital test flight.

The shot was postponed two weeks ago because of troubles with a radio telemetry system. The Titan 3A, intended to play a key role in manned and unmanned military space missions, was to hurl its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform. The platform was to kick a dummy satellite into a separate orbit.

Yule Concerts Planned Here Dec. 15-17

There will be Christmas concerts in downtown Hope Tuesday, December 15 and Thursday, December 17.

They will start each night at 7:15 in front of the old Duffie Hardware Building. Police plan to rope off the block, a second street, from Main to Elm from 7:15 to about 7:45 each night, while the concerts are in progress.

Taking part will be Guernsey Shover Street and Paisley on Tuesday night. Blevins, Hopewell and Brookwood in that order on Thursday night. Residents of Hempstead County are urged to attend these events and enjoy the children in their Christmas presentations.

Talk About Special Meet Fades Fast

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — That special session of the legislature Gov. Orval E. Faubus was considering seems less and less likely, several members of the Legislative Council said Wednesday.

They predicted Faubus would not call the special session on his proposed road program. "The legislators didn't want to be quoted because the governor said he is still undecided about the session. But Faubus is talking about it less enthusiastically than he did last week."

Faubus said Tuesday that he did not know if he had enough votes in the legislature to pass a gasoline tax increase, and he said Wednesday that he and his advisors have not had enough time to get ready for a special session.

Last week word leaked that Faubus was considering a special session to float a $150 million dollar bond issue financed through a one-cent per gallon increase in the gasoline tax.

He released Wednesday copies of a letter he has sent to legislators, city and county officials and news media discussing his road program and the bond approach to it.

Middle Age View Christmas With Feeling of Resigned Dispair and Apprehension

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A middle-aged man believes in Santa Claus just as much as a child does.

But he views the annual visit of the jolly old saint with considerably more misgiving. Experience has taught him a certain distrust of people bearing gifts.

On Christmas Eve, the child slips into a heavy-lidded sleep with mixed feelings of terror and delight.

Has he been a good enough boy to please Santa? Will Santa bring him all the bright new toys he yearned for, or merely leave a lump of coal in his stocking to show disapproval?

But he smiles in his dreams, for deep in his small heart he knows he won't be let down, that on waking he will find under the bright, shining tree all the treasures he wrote about in the letter he sent to the North Pole. And usually his faith is well rewarded, prosperity being what it is.

The middle-aged man, on the other hand, goes to bed on Christmas Eve with a feeling of forlorn apprehension amounting almost to resigned despair. All night he tosses restlessly, haunted by nightmare visions not of sugarplums but of the gifts he is about to receive and will have no use for.

Sure enough, when the middle-aged man arises on yuletide morn, his worst fears are con-

Russia Asked to Help Halt Viet Nam Reds

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has asked the new Soviet leaders to use their influence to halt Communist operations from North Viet Nam against South Viet Nam.

The request was made to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the course of a series of conferences Gromyko held here with Rusk and President Johnson. Rusk also asked the Russians Wednesday to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko conferred with Johnson at the White House for about 90 minutes. In a show of cordiality, the President escorted him to the door when the talk ended.

Gromyko said disarmament and several other subjects were discussed in his meeting with the President and added: "I think that the exchange of views was useful and the atmosphere in the course of the conversation was friendly."

He did not specify the other topics taken up with Johnson. But he did say that the President welcomed the $555 million defense budget cut which was announced Wednesday by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Asked whether Johnson and he talked about the possibility of an East-West summit conference, Gromyko brushed aside the question.

Johnson was understood, however, to have developed the line that he is deeply interested in easing tensions and improving East-West relations, particularly in the field of new disarmament agreements. He has made clear in the past that if there were constructive results in view he would be willing to go anywhere and meet with anyone for the purpose.

Gromyko said he brought to Johnson a message of best wishes from the Soviet leaders—the men who replaced Premier Nikita Khrushchev in mid-October.

An earlier meeting between Rusk and Gromyko over lunch at the Soviet Embassy produced what the U.S. officials called a lively exchange on the war in South Viet Nam. It was on that occasion that Rusk told Gromyko the United States hoped the Soviet Union would use its influence to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko, according to U.S. informants, told Rusk the Soviet Union thought the United States should withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam. Rusk replied that the troops were in South Viet Nam to assist the government and people there in the

Burning U.S. Libraries Has Become Fad for Foreign Mobs Who Have Sacked Some 75

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — It's become increasingly tempting in certain circles abroad to register a protest by sacking the nearest U.S. Information Agency library and burning its books.

Since 1947 there have been 75 violent incidents involving American libraries. This year there has been a new high — 16 incidents in 10 different countries, according to the agency.

Brazilian students disrupted an increase in bus fares so they smashed the windows of the USIA library. In Cairo, Egyptian mobs protested the U.S. landing of Belgian paratroopers in the Congo by wrecking the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

Bolivia tops the list with five library-wrecking demonstrations this year. Indonesia is next with three. Other countries include Panama, Cambodia, Colombia, Pakistan, Ceylon and the Sudan.

The fiery trend has aroused Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who warned Wednesday that "these violent acts cannot but affect relationships between nations."

In a public statement that did not name countries, Rusk said while the United States promptly files protests and asks for apologies and reparations "this is not a satisfactory substitute for prevention."

"The U.S. government has noticed the tendency of these violent assaults to recur in certain countries," Rusk said. "And it is especially concerned about violent acts which appear to be committed at or acquiesced in by authorities of the host state, or in which the authorities are slow in taking action to control mobs of rioters."

U.S. Information Agency Director, C. D. Rowan, was more blunt in a speech this week in Cleveland:

"I have been beset by anger, and then pity, as I have read of the senseless mobs in the UAR (United Arab Republic), in Indonesia, and other places smashing library buildings and destroying books."

"Many times these last few days I have remembered John Milton's warnings: 'As good almost kill a man as kill a good book; who kills a man kills a reasonable creature, God's image; but he who destroys a good book kills reason itself.'"

The USIA operates 178 libraries and 66 reading rooms. It supports 148 binational centers around the world where the United States supplies the books and periodicals while the staff salaries of the librarians are paid for by the host government.

Rain General Over All of Arkansas

Cloudy skies, southerly winds and rapidly increasing moisture moved into Arkansas early today causing rain throughout the state and dumping as much as one and one-half inches at one place.

The weather bureau said rain should continue through late Friday.

Temperatures in the state overnight were generally mild ranging generally in the low and mid 40s.

Little temperature change was expected Friday, with highs and lows ranging from the upper 40s to the mid 50s.

Most of the state is expected to receive from one to two inches of precipitation by Friday with locally heavier amounts in areas of thunder showers activity. Some rainfall amounts recorded around the state for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included: Fayetteville .25, Fort Smith .60, Harrison .25, Little Rock .11, Pine Bluff .18, El Dorado .55 and 70 at Texarkana.

Jury Selected in Rape-Slaying Case

LIAMBURG, Ark. (AP) — A jury was selected and testimony started Wednesday in the first-degree murder trial of James Williams, 33, a Negro of Crosssett accused in the rape-slaying of a white housewife.

Most of the testimony dealt with to prosecution's efforts to show Williams was in the area when Mrs. Thomas Degges, 25, was abducted from her home near Hamburg Sept. 24.

Mrs. Degges' four-year-old son had said a Negro man forced her into the trunk of his car. Her body was found the next day on a deserted logging road near her home.

Four women and eight men, all white, were chosen for the trial in Ashley County Circuit Court.

The courtroom, which seats about 300, was quickly filled and state troopers searched persons entering for the trial.

Goldwater Told Burch Must Have Mandate

By WALTER R. MEARS
NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon have told Sen. Barry Goldwater that his hand-picked GOP chairman must have a mandate, not just a majority, to stay at the helm of the party.

Nixon relayed that word after a summit talk Wednesday with the former president and the party's defeated nominee for the White House. The three party leaders met for an hour in Eisenhower's Waldorf Towers suite. Then Nixon and the former president talked separately.

Goldwater said the three all hope the rift between GOP moderates, some of them out to oust Dean Burch, and the party's conservative wing can be healed before the National Committee meets in Chicago Jan. 22 and 23. The committee will decide then whether to keep Burch as chairman.

Both Eisenhower and Nixon said they told Goldwater the party needs a broadly based leadership in the months ahead.

"We feel, and Sen. Goldwater agreed, that the national committee must have broad-based support — not unanimity, but a majority of one is not enough."

He made the comment after telling newsmen that Burch's own polls indicate the chairman now has the National Committee votes he needs to hold onto the post Goldwater gave him.

Nixon said neither he nor Eisenhower will say or do anything publicly to influence the committee's decision.

"We do not have a candidate for the chairmanship," he said. "I am not prejudging what the National Committee should do."

Eisenhower said later, "We are going to have to have a leadership that satisfies by and large all of the sections of the party and that's the committee's responsibility."

The three GOP leaders spoke separately after their meeting while Burch waited across the hall from the Eisenhower suite. The chairman said he had wanted to be on hand in case he was needed.

Goldwater spoke to newsmen first, standing on a chair in the packed lobby of the hotel to make a statement with no questions accepted.

"We see no impossible task ahead," he said. "We feel that unity can be achieved by both sides giving in this case, and that is what the three of us dedicated ourselves to achieving in the months ahead."

"We all of us want to see no blood dropping on the ground," Eisenhower called for flexibility on the part of all Republicans.

"If you are going to get a consensus anywhere you have got to be a little bit flexible," he said. "You can't put a square peg into a round hole."

Eisenhower said Goldwater is the titular head of the party and must take the lead in the drive for unity.

"We were very anxious that there be no blood letting," he said. "No vindictiveness to further antagonize any portion of the party."

Six Americans Die in Two Days in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Six Americans have died during the past two days of hard fighting in South Viet Nam as the Communist Viet Cong intensify their effort to overrun the country. Another American is missing.

South Vietnamese military officials believe the Viet Cong has launched its winter-spring offensive. Beginning last weekend, Communist attacks increased sharply.

Communist raids and ambushes at scattered points in mountainous central Viet Nam aroused belief that the Viet Cong hopes to drive government forces from that area adjacent to Communist North Viet Nam.

A U.S. Army officer killed Wednesday in a battle to retake a hill raised to 232 the number of Americans who have died in combat in South Viet Nam since December 1961.

A U.S. spokesman said an American enlisted man and an Australian officer were wounded in the same battle near the provincial capital of Tam Ky, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Several hundred Viet Cong overran the fortified hill before government forces fought their way back.

Earlier, the Viet Cong killed U.S. Army officer in a highway ambush in Phu Yen Province, 230 miles northeast of Saigon along the South China Sea.

A helicopter gunner was killed and a U.S. Army adviser was missing and presumed dead or captured in fighting Tuesday for a fortified hill in the An Lao mountain valley, 300 miles northeast of Saigon. Three American soldiers were killed Tuesday when the Viet Cong overran a small outpost at the southern tip of Viet Nam.

In the Communist-infested Mekong Delta, a powerful Viet Cong force attacked a government battalion early today at Ba Dua, 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Government forces reportedly beat off the attack in a half-hour battle, killing an estimated 50 Viet Cong. Twelve government soldiers were killed and 19 wounded. American advisers took part in the defense but none was reported wounded.

No Top Hat at the Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will dispense with the traditional top hat and morning coat at his inaugural, taking the oath in a black suit and four-in-hand tie.

The word on what the President will wear Jan. 20 came Wednesday from his wife's press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter. She also said the President planned to appear in dinner jacket and black tie at the four inaugural balls to be held in the capital that night.

Block Burns at Hector, Ark.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Fire swept through a city block in the small town of Hector 27 miles north of here early today, destroying a service station, a grocery, a doctor's office and a beauty parlor.

No one was injured. Russellville Fire Chief Dave Sarey estimated damage at at least $20,000.

The Russellville Fire Department went to Hector but the fire had such a head start on the firemen that all they could do was spray nearby buildings to keep them from catching fire.

Sarey said the fire started in the garage section of the service station.

One Confession in Mississippi Case Rejected

By MIKE SMITH
MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department failed in its efforts today to introduce an alleged confession at a preliminary hearing for 19 of 21 men charged in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers.

FBI agent Henry Rask, 39, of Atlanta, Ga., told U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter he had a signed confession from one of the 21. He did not say to what the alleged conspirator had confessed.

Miss Carter refused to let the agent describe the nature of the statement nor any of its contents. Rask said he got the statement last November from Horace Doyle Barnett, 25, of Minden, La.

Defense attorneys protested the statement was "hearsay" evidence.

The commissioner ruled that Rask could not testify about anything Barnett had said since the slayings occurred last June.

"Anything that was said by the alleged conspirator after the act would not be permissible except against him," Miss Carter said.

Justice Department attorney Robert Owen of Washington asked for a recess to consider two possible courses of action. Owen told newsmen the government could either drop the proceedings and turn the evidence over to a federal grand jury, or could produce other witnesses at the preliminary hearing.

"The purpose of a preliminary hearing is to determine whether probable cause exists," the lawyer said.

If the commissioner held that there was a "probability" that those arrested were connected with the crime, she could order them held for grand jury action. If the charges were dropped, the government still would have the right to put the matter before a grand jury.

Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Cecil Price of Neshoba County, among the 21 white men charged in connection with the murders, arrived at the courthouse wearing dark business suits instead of their customary khaki uniforms.

When Rainey left the building for the lunch recess, there were small clusters of spectators on the sidewalk. Many of the white men reached out and shook hands with the beaming sheriff.

A dozen defense attorneys immediately objected to use of the alleged confession on grounds it was "hearsay" evidence.

The report of the alleged confession came at a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Esther Carter for 19 of the 21 men arrested last Friday.

Henry Rask, 39, FBI agent from Atlanta, Ga., told Miss Carter he got a confession in the killing from Horace Doyle Barnett, 25, last November.

Miss Carter ruled Rask could not give details of the alleged confession. Defense attorneys requested a copy of the alleged confession and Miss Carter called a recess to study the question of admitting it as evidence.

Nineteen of those arrested were charged with conspiring to interfere with the federal rights of the three youths. The other two were charged as accessories.

defense against aggression from North Viet Nam and that the United States was fully informed of infiltration of men and supplies from the north into the south.

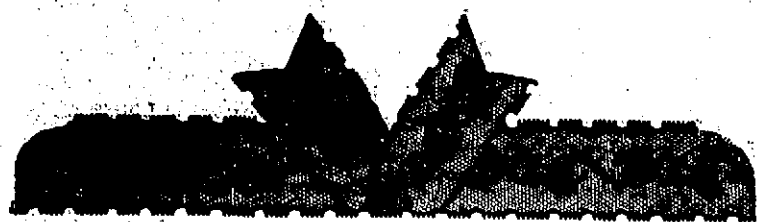

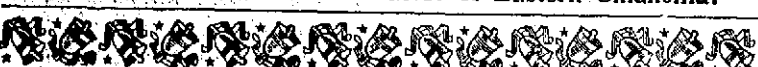

On another subject, Gromyko asked Rusk whether he had any new information to provide on the proposed formation of a nuclear weapons force by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Soviet Union has campaigned against such a force on the ground that it would put nuclear weapons into the hands of West Germany. He attacked the project in his talk with Rusk as a means of disseminating nuclear weapons more widely.

Rusk replied that the United States sees the measure as one which would block dissemination because the nuclear weapons supplied to the proposed force would be covered by such strict international safeguards that no one country would be able to employ them.

Gromyko's interest in plans for the force was sharpened by the fact that Johnson concluded Tuesday two days of conferences with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in which the nuclear weapons issue was the principal one discussed.

Gromyko flew from Moscow to New York two weeks ago to attend the opening of the U.N. General Assembly. Rusk and he held a series of talks in New York before he came here.

U.S. officials said these talks have shown no Soviet change in basic foreign policy positions. They have, however, served to strengthen the impression of U.S. policy makers that the Soviet government wants to maintain friendly relations with the West and may be ready at some point in the next year to negotiate on specific issues such as new, limited disarmament measures, settlement of Russia's long-standing land lease debt to the United States, and trade relations.

cessories.

The government must show, in a preliminary hearing before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter, "probable cause" for grand jury action on charges filed in what the FBI calls a Kux Klux Klan plot.

Of the 21 arrested last Friday and later released on bonds, 19 are charged with conspiracy to interfere with the federal rights of the slain trio. The other two were charged as accessories after the fact.

Only the state can file a murder charge. It has made no move to do so.

Informed sources said the FBI information would be outlined to Dist. Atty. W. H. Johnson for possible state action after the preliminary hearing.

Johnson's district includes Neshoba County, which takes in Philadelphia where the bodies of the three civil rights workers were found buried in a farm pond Aug. 4.

Those charged include Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 41, of Philadelphia and his deputy, Cecil Price, 28.

Price was among 10 of the men the government accused of having actually plotted to intercept the trio and "assault, shoot and kill them."

Killed were Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro.

One of the 21 charged was arrested in Biloxi. His preliminary hearing comes up there Friday. Another was arrested in Shreveport, La., and his hearing will be held there.

The law under which the charges were made has been on the books since 1870, and was passed with an eye toward the Ku Klux Klan which was then actively operating in the South. It is a criminal statute carrying a maximum of 10 years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

Shortly after the arrests, citizens in the area began drives for donations to set up a legal defense fund to help the 21 pay for their legal battles and bond costs.

The three civil rights workers were driving from Meridian to Philadelphia on June 21 to investigate the burning of a rural Negro church. That afternoon, officers stopped them at Philadelphia on a speeding charge.

They were released from jail at 10:30 p.m., after paying $10 on the traffic charge. Price said he watched them drive away. They were never reported alive again.

Two days later, the burned-out remains of the trio's station wagon was found in the swamps, some 15 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Reports circulated that a tip paid to an informant — as much as $30,000 — led to the discovery of the bodies buried under 20

Terming Tshombe's charges "an awkward maneuver," he said the council should deal only with "the action of the imperialists and colonialists and their puppets in the Congo."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson replied that the Russians were trying to throw up a smokescreen to conceal charges that they played a key role in aiding the insurgents.

Stevenson said it was "almost incredible that the council should be asked to hear a complaint against those who have not intervened in the Congo, while refusing to hear the gov-

Board Likes That U.S. School Aid

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas School Boards Association of the country itself against those who by their own admission have.

"The Soviet Union, which has already been reported to be resupplying those who aid the rebels, is seeking in this way to protect itself from a disclosure of the facts in this sorry situation," Stevenson declared.

The American delegate said the 22 nations who charged the United States and Belgium with intervention overlooked the fact that the paratroop operation "was purely and simply a rescue mission authorized in advance by the legally constituted government of the Congo."

Car-Scooter Crash Fatal

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Barney Oswald Jr., 15, of North Little Rock died in a collision said Wednesday that federal aid to education was becoming more necessary because of increasing resistance to state and local taxes for schools.

The association endorsed the principle of federal aid, as long as local control of schools is not threatened.

The state group opposed, in resolutions, any act which would tend to place a ceiling on the amount of millage local school districts may approve, sought proper assessments of property in school districts, and supported measures to find more money for teachers' salaries.

Youth on Bike Killed by Car

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Marlin Ferrell, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ferrell of Newark (Independence County), was killed Wednesday night when his bicycle was struck by a car on Arkansas 69 west of Newark.

The driver was identified as Loyd Gardner of Magness.

hospital here early today of injuries suffered Wednesday in a car-motor scooter collision.

North Little Rock Police said a motor scooter ridden by the youth and a car driven by Mrs. Margaret Smith, 44, of North Little Rock collided at an intersection here.

Young Oswald was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Oswald.

The serving tables were beautifully decorated with holly, nandina berries, red and white carnations and red candles. The head table which was decorated by Mrs. Earl O'Neal was centered with the Christmas creche which was used with red and white votive candles, large red candles in hurricane lamps and red ribbon bows with Christmas balls.

After the luncheon, Mrs. C. V. Nunn, president, of the WSCS, introduced the visitors, Rev. and Mrs. John Ross of Spring Hill, Rev. W. R. Burks, Rev. J.

Redistrict Suit Answer to Be Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A response or answer to a lawsuit which seeks to have the state's four congressional districts realigned will be filed by the end of this week the attorney general's office said Tuesday.

The office is representing the state Board of Election Commissioners defendant in the suit filed Nov. 16 in U.S. District Court by Mrs. John F. Park. The suit seeks to alter the districts to make them equal in population.

Mrs. Park wife of a Little Rock attorney asked in the suit that the state legislature and Gov. Orval E. Faubus be ordered to realign the districts within a specified period. If they don't comply the suit said the court should realign the districts.

The response to the suit was due Monday but Asst. Atty. Gen. Jack Lessenberry on that day filed a motion asking for an additional 20 days to respond. Lessenberry said U.S. District Judge Gordon E. Young said Tuesday that he had denied the motion and wanted the state's response filed "right away" although he did not specify the date.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Walter were Miss Beverly Walters and Paul Hollis, students at Ouachita Baptist College, and Mrs. Alene Bryson and Mrs. Billy Walters of Prescott.

Setting Up Registration Chief Problem

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The two main problems in the new voter registration system will be the initial cost of setting it up and the job of preparing a voter list before elections, the Arkansas County Clerks Association said Tuesday.

The county clerks were here for a discussion on how to administer the new system, approved by Arkansas voters as Amendment 54 in the Nov. 3 Milk.

Thursday — Turkey - Dressing - Gravy, Buttered English peas, Bread - butter, Red Applesauce, Sugar cookies with Christmas topping, Milk.

Friday — Vegetable soup - Crackers, ½ Peanut butter sandwich, Cinnamon rolls, Milk.

Meet Called on Opportunity Act

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Urban League of Greater Little Rock will hold a statewide informational meeting on the 1964 election.

The new system of permanent registration gives the responsibility of registering the voters to county clerks, where before it was the job of the collectors.

Under the system, registration ends 20 days before an election, and the clerks want more time (thus an earlier closing date) to prepare the voter lists. It would take a two-thirds vote of the legislature to change any provision of the new system.

Berlon Davis, Cross County clerk and association president, recommended that the association ask the legislature for about $250,000 to take care of the initial expense of installing the system. This would include such things as new filing cabinets.

Burch Issue to Go Before Committee

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Squabbling Republican factions seem likely to be offered a policy-making voice in a unity move aimed at quieting the party moderates' protests against national Chairman Dean Burch.

Sen. Barry Goldwater said after meeting in New York Wednesday with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon that they agree party leadership problems can best be solved by the National Committee.

This was interpreted in Washington by some influential Republicans as indicating that the defeated GOP presidential nominee hopes to save Burch's job by having the National Committee set up an all-faction leadership council to voice party policies.

Burch, who represents Goldwater's conservative views, thus would be subordinated as a spokesman for the party.

Committee members confirmed reports that Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP vice-presidential nominee, have kept the phone lines hot trying to drum up support for Burch at the forthcoming Jan. 22-23 showdown meeting of the committee in Chicago.

Miller, who preceded Burch as national chairman, denied he was making any canvass of the committee.

"I'm just practicing law," he said.

Republican governors already have proposed setting up a policy council. Such a move has been approved by House minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has indicated a willingness to consider the proposal.

Although some of the governors have called for the replacement of Burch, they thus far have been unable to find a candidate willing to have his name put up as a rival.

Shula, Colts Earn Honors in Pro League

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Don Shula's job of leading the Baltimore Colts to the Western Conference title of the National Football League in his second year as head coach earned him recognition today as the league's Coach of the Year by an Associated Press panel.

Shula won by a landslide in the voting of the 42-man group, three from each league city.

The Baltimore coach had 38 votes to three for Blanton Collier of Cleveland. One committee member did not vote in this category.

The 1963 winner was George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

Under Shula's direction, the Colts bounced back from an opening-day 34-21 defeat by Minnesota and streaked through 11 straight games before they lost to Detroit last Sunday. En route, they clinched the Western crown and whipped the favored Green Bay Packers and defending champion Chicago Bears twice each. The first Bear game was a shocking 52-0 rout.

Shula, 34, came to the Colts as successor to Webb Ewbank after the 1962 season, following a career as a defensive back in the NFL and three years as line coach for the Detroit Lions under George Wilson.

Drafted by the Cleveland Browns in 1951 after a fine career at John Carroll University, Shula came to Baltimore in 1953 in a 10-for-5 player swap. He played with the Colts' defensive backfield through 1956 and finished his active career with Washington in 1957.

Shula's first coaching job was as an assistant at Virginia in 1958. He was an assistant at Kentucky in 1959 and moved to the Lions in 1960.

Under Shula's direction in 1963, the Colts got off to a wobbly start while breaking in rookies and filling in for injured regulars. Baltimore came with a rush at the end and won five of its last six to finish in third place.

Michigan Just Keeps Rolling to Victories

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Loui Dampier is turning out to be one of the star sophomores of the college basketball season. The six-footer from Indianapolis exploded for 37 points to lead the ninth-ranked Kentucky Wildcats to a 100-74 victory over Iowa State Wednesday night.

"He did a tremendous job," veteran coach Adolph Rupp said after Dampier, aided by another soph, Pat Riley of Schenectady, N.Y., put the Wildcats back on the winning side after their road defeat to North Carolina Monday.

Dampier got his 37 points on 17 field goals and three fouls while Riley contributed 18 points including a three-point play that put Kentucky ahead for good at 47-15.

Michigan's Wolverines, the country's No. 1 team in The Associated Press rankings, crushed Indiana State 102-64 and the second-ranked Wichita Shockers made it two straight with a 73-55 romp over Texas Western. Both were home-court victories.

Cazzie Russell's 27 points led the unbeaten Wolverines to their fourth straight. Dave Stallworth also scored 27 points and put on a spectacular defensive performance in sparking Wichita.

In a couple of one-point decisions Ohio State edged Butler 67-66 on Al Rowley's basket with 12 seconds left at Columbus, Ohio, and Cornell's Big Red invaded Syracuse and surprised the Orange 73-72. Two free throws by Jim Maglisceau on a one-and-one situation with 19 seconds on the clock won for Cornell. Massachusetts also scored a road victory over Rhode Island 79-67.

Connecticut, which surprised by beating Temple and Princeton in the NCAA playoffs last March, came from 10 points back to defeat Harvard 78-63 behind 26 points by soph Wes Bialostukina.

Cold Porkers Drop 3rd Cage Game in a Row

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — The Oklahoma State Cowboys, their aim more than twice as good as Arkansas, handed the Razorbacks their third straight basketball loss 66-52 here Wednesday night.

The winless Porkers could hit only 27 per cent of their shots from the field, 17 of 22; while the Cowboys hit 22 of 35 field goal attempts for 63 per cent.

All three Arkansas losses have been to Big Eight Conference teams.

The Razorbacks stayed in the game at the free throw line, not missing one of their 16 shots in the first half. Arkansas hit 86 per cent of the charity tosses, Oklahoma State sank 69 per cent.

The half ended with the Cowboys ahead 37-36, although the lead changed 16 times and the score was tied nine times in the half.

Cowboy Paul Johnson took scoring honors with 17 points, and John Tackling led Arkansas with 13.

Recruiting in SWC May Hit Arkansas

DALLAS (AP)—The possibility of some more penalties for recruiting violations gave the Southwest Conference winter meeting a lift today.

It had appeared to be a dull session until it was recalled that a couple of violations were carried over from the spring meeting in Lubbock when half the conference was rapped with penalties.

Whether the complaints are serious enough to warrant additional probation—Texas and Southern Methodist got them at Lubbock—was problematical. Arkansas reportedly faces a charge of excessive visitation of athletes—something for which Baylor and Texas Tech got only reprimands.

The faculty committee doesn't meet today and the only thing on the program is a session of the athletic directors and coaches to discuss minor items like increasing the minimum price of reserved seats for conference football games from $4.00 to $5.00.

Friday the athletic directors, coaches and business managers meet; the faculty committee meets with the athletic directors and coaches, the sports information.

Tied for runner-up, with five votes each, were his Redskin teammate, safetyman Paul Krause, and Cleveland split end Paul Warfield.

"Taylor probably is the greatest natural football player I've ever seen," says Redskin Coach Bill McPeak. "He combines power, speed and fine open field moves."

At Arizona State, Taylor played right halfback and was mainly used as a wingback on offense to block, catch passes, and run an occasional reverse.

Taylor says Arizona State Coach Frank Kush liked Tony Lorick's scrappy style of play and used to urge Taylor to make more noise and show more hustle in practice.

Lorick won the starting fullback job with the Western Division champion Colts this year and finished in a three-way tie for fourth place in the rookie race with Mel Renfro, Dallas safetyman, and Bucky Pope, Los Angeles flanker.

Taylor didn't start the All-Star game, but once he got into the game he was the sparkplug in the All-Star offense and was named most valuable player.

After 13 NFL games, Taylor ranks sixth among rushers with 744 yards in 191 carries. He is eighth among pass receivers with 49 for 720 yards. He has scored 10 touchdowns.

Royals Get Crack at the Celtics

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Cincinnati Royals haven't beaten the champion Boston Celtics in three tries this season in the National Basketball Association. Tonight may be the night when the teams clash at Cincinnati.

The Royals warmed up for their fourth meeting with the champs by defeating the Detroit Pistons 122-114 on the road Wednesday night.

Oscar Robertson, with 32 points which included three vital baskets that stayed off a late Detroit rally, sparked the Royals to their third straight win and their fifth in their last six starts. They now trail Boston by 3½ games in the Eastern Division.

The New York Knicks beat the Baltimore Bullets 111-90 in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday. It was the first road victory for the Knicks this season and ended a six-game losing streak.

Porker Freshmen Win Cage Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —Forward Guy Neal Martin sunk a rebound with eight seconds to go and the Arkansas Freshmen basketball team topped Crowder Junior College of Neosho, Mo., 61-60 here Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-3 Martin got the winning points after a free throw.

Crowder's Kenny D'Andrea was the game's high scorer with 19 points, and Richard Baldwin had 15 for the Shoats.

The Missouri school is in its first year, and is on the old Ft. Crowder Army base near Neosho.

"Over a long period of time you can build solidly," he said. The only other NFL coach with anything approaching Kuharich's contract, is Tom Landry, signed this year by the Dallas Cowboys for 10 years.

In their first season under Kuharich, the Eagles have won six and lost seven, their best since 1961, and have a shot for a .500 season.

Kuharich previously coached in the NFL at Washington and St. Louis, and in college at Notre Dame where he played as a student. In 1961 he left Notre Dame to become supervisor of officials in the NFL.

Adair also established two major league marks. He compiled a .994 average, eclipsing the .9934 mark set by Red Schoendienst of St. Louis and New York in the National League in 1958. Adair made only five errors, two less than the previous record-holder, Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson in 1951.

Baltimore's Robinson, who was named the AL's most valuable player last month, fielded .972 and topped the third baseman for the fifth straight year. Aparicio headed the shortstops for the sixth consecutive season. His 1964 average was .979.

LAZYBONES'LL LIKE IT—Thanks to the new device pictured above, water-skiing takes on a new dimension of comfort and safety. Next season you'll be able to grab hold of a tow line, sit down in comfort for a ski-ride across the water behind a fast-moving boat. The Ski-Lounge consists of twin pontoons and a chair on a base of stainless steel tubing, firmly mounted on a pair of water skis. The skier controls it with a control stick like those used in airplanes. The comely, unidentified bathie in the photo is not standard equipment.

Rushing Title to Back at Wake Forrest

NEW YORK (AP) — Brian Piccolo of Wake Forest has officially been awarded major college football's 1964 rushing and scoring titles — after making the longest climb of any double winner in history.

Piccolo won the rushing title with 1,044 yards gained in 10 games to 1,004 for runner-up Jim Grabowski of Illinois, who played in nine games. Piccolo scored 111 points on 17 touchdowns and nine extra points, leading Howard Twilley of Tulsa by one point.

In 1963, Piccolo finished 119th in rushing and tied for 251st in scoring with 367 yards and 22 points. Piccolo's 111 points this season were eight more than the entire Wake Forest team scored in all of 1962 and 1963 combined.

Behind the runners-up in both rushing and scoring was Al Nelson of Cincinnati with 973 yards and 82 points.

Night for Unexpected in Hockey

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a night for the unexpected in the National Hockey League. In New York, Bobby Hull, who specializes in goal scoring, battled defensive shadows all night long but found time to set up three Chicago goals in a 6-1 Black Hawk victory over the Rangers. That was surprising. In Toronto, Maple Leaf fans, disappointed by their club's 3-2 loss to Montreal, had plenty to talk about though when big Frank Mahovlich skated out for his first game action in almost a month. Considering early hospital reports on the Big M's mysterious ailment which remains undisclosed, that was amazing. The Rangers kept close tabs on Hull, who has scored 20 goals in 22 games and appears on his way to a record-breaking season. But two goals by Ken Wharram and a flurry of four third-period markers — three set up by Hull — broke it open for the Hawks.

Italians to Fight for World Title

ROME (AP)—Junior welter-weight titleholder Sandro Mazzinghi meets Fortunato Manca in a championship fight Friday — the first time in history two Italians will be battling for a world crown.

"I know I am the underdog," said Manca, "but never mind. I'll eat Mazzinghi up in one chunk."

Drives Auto Right Into Swim Pool

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Before settling down for the night, salesman T. L. Flanagan, 67, of Dallas left his motel room and drove to buy a magazine.

As he returned, Flanagan mistook a swimming pool patio between two cars for an empty parking spot.

The car skidded on the wet paving and dived into the pool. Flanagan waded ashore as the vehicle sank.

least eight weeks, according to his doctor, but may be running normally next summer.

Dr. W.J. Virgin, an orthopedic surgeon, said Kidd was operated on Wednesday and doctors removed scar tissue and a bony spur on his left heel. He described the operation as "routine."

Districting Plan Offered by Lawmaker

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — St. Francis County Rep. Clarke Kinney said Wednesday he has prepared a proposed constitutional amendment which would let the state Board of Apportionment apportion both houses of the state legislature on a "one man-one vote" basis.

Kinney said he was more convinced than ever that the state legislature must apportion itself before reapportionment is handled by the federal courts.

A suit to force reapportionment of the legislature is pending in U.S. District Court at Little Rock.

The Board of Apportionment already has limited authority under the state constitution, but it cannot effect a "one man-one vote" system until the constitution is amended or its apportionment provisions are invalidated by the courts.

Kinney said he learned recently at a conference of state government leaders at Chicago that the courts are not likely to give Arkansas enough time to adopt his proposed amendment in the 1966 general election.

"But if the legislature submits this amendment, the attorney general could go into court and say, 'Here is the plan we want, and the court might put it into effect rather than draw a plan of its own.'"

Kinney's amendment would give the Board of Apportionment complete authority to draw district boundaries, except that no county could be divided in formation of the districts.

Every county now has one representative, and the remaining 25 representative positions are apportioned among the larger counties on a population basis.

The amendment says that each Senate district shall have, as near as possible, 2,857 per cent of the state's total population; and that each representative district shall have, as near as possible, one per cent of the population.

The amendment would leave total membership of the House at 100 and the Senate at 35 members.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movies about kidnapping are uncomfortable to watch, which may be why none has been very successful. "Seance on a Wet Afternoon," a bizarre kidnap tale, is not likely to win a wide audience because of this apparent distaste to view children in jeopardy. But it can be recommended for those seeking a completely engrossing, if unnerving, two hours of film.

The British-made film begins with an expedition into the occult and ends with one. In between is a period of unrelieved starkness as two dispossessed individuals plot and carry out their diabolical scheme.

Their motive is clear to them, if not entirely to the audience. The idea seems to be that a passe but still practicing medium and her compliant husband figure to abduct a rich man's daughter, then help solve the crime as public proof of her extrasensory powers.

Kim Stanley makes one of her too-infrequent film appearances as the unhappy medium, and she plays it for every shade of dementia. The final trance, in which she contorts herself through childhood scenes, is the kind that makes Academy consideration imperative.

Richard Attenborough, who doubles as producer, plays the husband with such deftness and sympathy that you almost find yourself pulling for him to accomplish the job.

"The Americanization of Emily" is another disturbing film, on an intellectual rather than emotional level. It takes all the standard cliches of Hollywood war movies and maims them with cynical disdain.

Lt. Cmdr. Charlie Madison is adog-robber, an admiral's aide who can commandeer the best steaks, booze, broads and other necessities for the smooth functioning of the high command in London before D-Day. He is also a devout coward. When called upon to become the first Navy man to die on Omaha Beach as a public relations gimmick, he naturally rebels.

Charlie has an English girlfriend named Emily, who is appalled and yet fascinated by his total lack of morals. Despite her ingrained sense of duty and honor, she falls madly in love with him.

In a similar period a year ago, $450 was collected from the city's 320 meters.

Explanations Painful to Lawmakers

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — In case the new Democratic congressmen didn't already know it, they have now been told: It is painful to have to explain to your constituents why an administration of your party has closed a military base in your district. But the Democratic National Committee, having discussed this fact of life with the freshmen, is prepared to help.

Among the materials given nearly 70 newly elected Democratic representatives at a briefing session Wednesday was a kit relating to the decision by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to close installations now employing about 63,000 persons.

The kit includes a sample five-minute radio or television script adaptable for use by any congressman about any base and a similar news release. They emphasize annual savings of nearly $500 million claimed for the McNamara action; arguments that the closings will not impair defense, and descriptions of the department's actions to maintain jobs for career employees.

The television-radio script, which incorporates clips of McNamara's own explanations, is complete right down to camera directions — "Congressman looks to his right; . . . pick up chart with congressman's voice over. . . ."

Much of the script is devoted to telling how Presque Isle, Maine, not only survived closing of a base three years ago but developed private industries on the site that now hire more people than worked for the military.

The proposed news release announcing the telecast begins:

"The closings will not impair defense, and descriptions of the department's actions to maintain jobs for career employees."

Collision Fatal At Camden

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Archibald Elder, 60, of Little Rock was killed Wednesday when his car and a pickup truck collided on U.S. 79 about five miles north of here.

Elder was traveling alone when his car collided with a truck driven by Benny Smith of Pine Bluff, State Police said.

"Congressman — said today that 'imaginative businessmen' can make recently closed military bases 'tax-payers instead of tax-eaters.'"

The congressmen were told they could make a five-minute film clip for about $12 at the House recording studio.

"YOUR CHRISTMAS STORE IN HOPE"

This familiar little transmitter isn't worth fifty cents (41¢ to be exact) but it can make you sound like a million dollars if you give it half a chance

Follow these two easy steps and you'll get remarkable clarity, naturalness and just the right volume level from your phone.

1. It's all in the way you hold the phone. Start by resting the receiver comfortably flat against your ear without applying pressure.

2. Then swing the transmitter directly in front of your mouth. Automatically, it will be the right distance from your lips. Speak in normal, conversational tones.

Today's telephone circuits reproduce your voice eight times better than they did 25 years ago; three times better than just 10 years ago. Multimillion dollar changes within the telephone system itself have made this dramatic progress possible. New kinds of dial switching equipment. New kinds of cables and radio relay systems. Rapid application of telephone science's newest art, electronics. Nowadays your telephone serves you better in so many ways. Speed. Convenience. Dependability. And especially, in the everyday business of making your voice sound like you.

Give-a-Log Drive for Christmas

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) - One hundred logs are too bulky to fit under a Christmas tree but they fit around one just fine. That is what Fairbanks folks are giving the Chuck Garrett family for Christmas - a log cabin to house their Christmas tree.

The Garretts and their four children lost all their possessions when fire destroyed their home two weeks ago.

The "Give a Log" drive is being co-ordinated by University of Alaska students. Eighty logs, at $5.60 each, have been donated.

Professional builders have pledged their time to build the 24-by-38-foot house. The house-raising bee is planned next week.

Opposition in Guiana Spurns Offer

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) - Opposition leader Forbes Burnham today rejected maneuvers by Premier Cheddi Jagan to remain in the government of British Guiana.

Burnham turned down Jagan's overture to join forces with him and said instead he would form a government with the support of the country's third party, Peter D'Aguiar's ultraconservative United Force. He said D'Aguiar had offered to support him.

Jagan, who won a plurality but not a majority in the voting, said he would fight efforts to install a coalition of Burnham's Negro People's National Congress and the United Force.

Had Jagan teamed up with Burnham, he could have claimed credit for any governmental accomplishments. With East Indians outnumbering the Negroes to 2, it would have given him a good chance for victory in the next election.

A moderate Socialist, Burnham had refused to ally himself with the radical Jagan on other occasions.

Jenkins Will Be Called in Baker Case

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate's stormy Bobby Baker hearings have been closed down until next year after agreement was reached to call former White House aide Walter Jenkins for questioning.

The committee also decided that the "party girl" issue that has bobbed up in the Baker probe required no further investigation.

Jenkins resigned in the midst of the presidential campaign after disclosure he twice had been arrested on morals charges. His resignation was requested by President Johnson, with whom he had been closely associated for 25 years.

The Senate Rules Committee announced no date for questioning Jenkins as part of its probe into the outside business and financial dealings of Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Jenkins' name was brought into the inquiry months ago in testimony by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, about the purchase of advertising time on an Austin, Tex., television station controlled by President Johnson's family.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., the committee chairman, said he would issue a statement later on decisions taken at a closed meeting Wednesday that lasted for four hours.

Disclosure that Jenkins would be called for questioning came from Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., at the start of a public hearing following the closed meeting of the committee.

Cooper said he felt compelled to reveal the committee's decisions since had had been informed that Jordan had told newsmen he thought the Kentucky senator was "happy" about what had taken place at the meeting.

Jordan said in reply he had not intended to infer that Cooper had agreed with the actions taken by the committee's Democratic majority.

Cooper said that except for calling Jenkins, he had not been in agreement with the committee's major decisions and, in fairness to him and other GOP committee members, the record should show this.

Farm Group Opposes U.S. Intervention

By OVID MARTIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The American Farm Bureau Federation closes its annual convention today, maintaining unbending opposition to government intervention into agriculture.

Resolutions to be acted upon by the 165 voting delegates at the final session offer little concession to recent political developments.

They largely ignored, in effect, the landslide victory in November's election of an administration that has pushed for government guidance and control of farm production and prices.

Delegates voted tentatively to call for an end to government price supports for soybeans, the nation's fastest expanding crop. The organization had endorsed soybean supports in the past.

In doing this, the convention acted on arguments that a continuation of such supports might well put soybeans into a surplus class along with such other supported crops as cotton, tobacco, wheat and feed grains.

close with the farm bureau than in recent years.

Some farm leaders argue that President Johnson's victory, which included help in many farm states, was a mandate for an even greater government role in stabilization of agriculture.

It was possible that the convention would wind up with the farm bureau casting an image of being even more strongly opposed to federal farm programs than in the past—except possibly in the case of cotton where it endorsed temporary use of payments to gain eventual lower cotton prices and eventual easing of present controls.

The resolutions also gave little support to the big farm organization's willingness to accept what have been interpreted as administration hints that it would be willing to work more

LBJ Wants Business to Like Him

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson likes to be liked, particularly by the business community, some of whose biggest malarajas were in his corner in the last election.

As he put it last week: "Over the past 12 months I have said many times that it is my hope — and purpose — that government and business should operate in partnership, not as antagonists. That will always be my goal."

This is in keeping with his philosophy of "let's reason together."

President Kennedy felt the same way until he felt the captains in the steel industry got unreasonable. Then he banged heads and things never were the same again.

Now Johnson has banged heads with the bankers, but he wore a rubber cushion, and it worked.

But then Johnson wasn't in the same pickle as Kennedy. So even though everything ended well and pleasantly this time there's no telling how he'd act if the situations were the same. They just weren't.

The trouble Johnson ran into started in England where the interest rate was raised on money borrowed from the government to curb borrowing and, as a result, slow down the drain on British reserves.

Right away the American Federal Reserve raised the interest rate on loans it charges to U.S. commercial banks. There was some danger in this:

Would American commercial banks in turn raise the interest rate on loans to American business and industry? If so, this might mean less borrowing, less business expansion, and damage to this prosperous economy.

Sure enough, four banks raised their rate. It didn't require radar to see other bankers waiting in the wings to do the same. Right at the start of Johnson's new administration, the economy was in danger of a dive.

The President's problem was to get tough without doing it the way Kennedy got tough. Last week he talked to the Business Advisory Council, made up of more than 100 presidents and board chairmen of leading corporations.

He made a long speech on how he wished to get along with business, how good the economy is, how inflation could spoil the rosy glow, and how business and government should work together.

But right in the middle of it, and in just a few paragraphs, he took dead aim at the bankers. Although being very pleasant, he warned against the danger of upping lending rates. He said:

"I am confident that American bankers will consider the long-term interest of the nation in sustaining a healthy and vigorous rate of economic growth."

All this was intended to show he wasn't interfering with free enterprise, and he wasn't giving orders, but the bankers got the message. There was a little squawking, but not much. And no more banks raised rates.

In doing this, Johnson was doing what Kennedy had tried to do in a nice way two years ago. But in the end Kennedy had to get rough and tough. Before Johnson's White House years are up he may be doing likewise. He hopes not.

Two years ago, in his desire to prevent a wage-price spiral from getting started, Kennedy pressured the steel industry and the steelworkers' union into seeing things his way. Or he thought he did.

He persuaded the union, in its negotiations with the industry, to sign a new contract that gave them some fringe benefits but

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This is the weekend when cultural Los Angeles takes its big leap forward.

Amid fanfares and furbelows, the magnificent new Music Center will open its doors for the first time Sunday. The initial concert features Jascha Heifetz making a rare appearance as soloist.

The event will mark the culmination of a five-year drive by music lovers led by Mrs. Norman Chandler of the publishing family. Seeking a proper home for symphony, grand and light opera, concert and drama in Los Angeles, they raised $18.5 million from local citizens. County-guaranteed bonds added to the $33.5 million total.

The pavilion is the first and biggest of the three auditoriums — a normal theater and smaller one in the round will follow later. The entrance is massively impressive.

Inside are spacious, marble-floored lobbies and a spectacular center staircase reminiscent of the Paris opera. It almost seems too big until you realize you are seeing it without people. They will make the difference.

Likewise the interior is deceptively large with the seats unfilled. Actually the 3,250-seat Music Center is more intimate than the cavernous Shrine and Philharmonic auditoriums which previously housed long-hair events. And the European seating — no center aisles — adds to the note of intimacy.

All is done with simple elegance. There is no overpowering chandelier, only small ones to add shimmering light on the side walls. The major feature is the golden shell which extends from the back of the stage, over the proscenium and into the hall.

The philharmonic was rehearsing the Beethoven Ninth Symphony. The conductor, Zubin Mehta, 29, was still tinkering with the acoustics.

I asked his opinion of the center's acoustics. The sound in New York's Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center, you may recall, proved somewhat disastrous.

"The sound here is the best of any modern music hall," he replied. "The old ones? They are better, but they are not big."

The shell makes the difference, he observed. Also the side walls, where the music is reflected gently on panels of butternut wood.

No Agreement on Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Was there an agreement between the United States and Russia to cut down on defense spending?

"No agreement whatsoever," White House press secretary no wage increase. In exchange for his, Kennedy thought, the industry wouldn't raise prices.

But the industry did, right after the contract was signed. In fact the biggest steelman of them all, Roger M. Blough, board chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp., made a special trip to the White House to tell Kennedy.

The President was reported to have received the news with "controlled fury." It was a lot less controlled when he went before a news conference the next day and denounced the steel industry with hot contempt.

This was a terrible blow to an industry that spends a lot of money on public relations. The steel bosses caved in and called off the price increase. But business, or some of it, got mad at Kennedy.

He spent a lot of time later telling business he wasn't mad at it.

10 Business News Stories Stand Out

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In a year of striking economic ups and downs, 10 business news stories stand out. Here, in one man's opinion, are the 10 top business news stories of 1964 — some of them cliffhanger serials with the final chapters still to come.

1. Stock prices climbed fast and suffered some dizzy spells. Trading volume set records and so did prices as measured by popular averages. The Dow-Jones 30 Industrials topped 800 in March and added 92 more points by mid-November. But markets took some sharp drops, too: in August when American and North Vietnamese naval vessels clashed; in October when Nikita Khrushchev was toppled; in November when the British pound sterling was raided by speculators.

2. Federal tax rates were cut. Results showed up in take-home pay in March. At first the money went toward paying off debts and increasing savings, but by late summer and fall spending was on the way up.

3. International money markets had a bad scare in October and November and American borrowers had some anxious days until President Johnson intervened to hold the interest line. Britain's fast deteriorating economic situation brought a run on the pound. The new Labor government tried a 15 per cent import tax, then boosted the bank rate to 7 per cent from 5 per cent. But it took a $3-billion fund by 10 other nations to halt the raid. Short-term rates in the United States also were boosted to prevent loss of dollars to Britain.

4. Stock traders clashed with federal regulators. The New York Stock Exchange and the Securities and Exchange Commission came eyeball to eyeball over curbing the activities of floor traders who act for their own accounts, and the SEC won that one. The giant over-the-counter market for unlisted stock got a milder than expected crackdown, but also was subjected to more federal supervision.

5. Labor made some impressive dollar gains and set out on new negotiating paths. A generous pact with the autoworkers sparked talk of inflation ahead and inspired the "bulls" in the stock market. Steel union emphasis on changing working conditions at the mills hinted of troubles ahead and customers began stockpiling steel. A rail strike threatened off and on all year, and labor strife on the docks was another cliffhanger.

6. Corporate profits soared. Gains were scored in each of the first three quarters and many companies set records. Dividends increased, too.

7. Government-business relations took a new turn. President Johnson won an unusual amount of support from business executives during his campaign.

8. Giant stock offerings and a record number of stock splits enlivened the year. In February AT&T issued rights to buy $1.2 billion of common stock, a record offering. Investors also snapped up the offer of stock in Communications Satellite Corp. in June and pushed up prices when it was listed on the exchange.

9. Prosperity made news. The business upswing neared completion of its fourth year, a record for peacetime. Climbing to new highs were personal income, industrial production, Gross National Product, and consumer debt.

10. The U.S. deficit in interna-

Big Pulaski Merger Is Discussed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Committee of 100 for Pulaski County proposed Wednesday a long-range plan by which Little Rock, North Little Rock and Pulaski County would consolidate.

The proposal, result of 2½ years study, would also unify the two city school districts and the county district.

None of the political or administrative heads of the three largest governments rejected the possibility of merger.

County Judge Arch Campbell said the Committee of 100 is trying to do is to develop the type of government that is best and most economical. He said he would accept the will of the voters on the matter.

The Urban Services Committee of the Committee of 100, which made the merger study, said it realized the wholesale changes it recommended will take a long time. The committee proposed a five-year timetable leading by 1970 toward progress in the long-range goal of city-county consolidation.

The report said the Arkansas River politically partitions what at heart is essentially one city economically and culturally, "a kind of Berlin Wall that divides the community at times and places where unity is the greatest need."

The report added that this division cannot be defended by "reasonable men and women."

"It simply doesn't make sense for the legal cities of Little Rock and North Little Rock to be divided in their efforts to attack crime, disease, ignorance, traffic jams and ugliness—all problems common to the entire area," the report said.

Another Mob Tries to Hit U.S. Agency

By ANTOINE YARED

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian security police turned another mob away from the U.S. Information Agency building in the east Java capital of Surabaya Wednesday, but the city was reported quiet today.

Director Paul Neilson flew to Surabaya this morning to survey damage done to the American library two days ago by Communist-inspired demonstrators.

On his return, Neilson said the situation was quiet and that 13 American officials and their families living in Surabaya are safe and their residences are under police guard. The 13 are employed by the USIA, the consulate and the U.S. aid mission.

Neilson said police prevented the building from further damage from an estimated 4,000 demonstrators.

A Communist-dominated postal labor union at the Jakarta post office today refused to handle USIA mail.

The same union boycotted the mail a month ago until the U.S. Embassy asked the government to intervene.

An embassy spokesman said at least two companies of Surabaya police were guarding the American consulate, the USIA facilities and the residence of four U.S. officials.

In Washington, the State Department said it took an "exceedingly serious" view of the Indonesian attitude toward Jones' visit. The department said it was asking the Indonesian government to give assurances of full protection for Jones on official travels.

Letters to the Editor

This is your newspaper. Write us if. Letters criticizing the editorial policy or commenting upon facts in the news columns, are equally welcome. Every writer must sign his name and address.

Editor-the-Star:

In the "Letter to the Editor" column of the Hope Star last Monday, December 7, there was a letter signed by Mr. Anderson, Mr. Glanton, and Mr. Huckabee criticizing the officials who worked a basketball game in this area. The purpose of my letter is to inform the public that this game did not take place at Hope High School and did not involve any of the teams of the Hope School System. The officials that we hire are the best in this area. Most men who enter the officiating business have a sincere desire to help improve high school athletics. The small pay that they receive does not compensate for the hard work, the time, or the criticism that they receive from a few of the fans.

I am proud of the officials that call our games and the fans that spend their money to help support the athletic program at Hope High School. Let us all work together to improve the program we have that we may become recognized as the best in Arkansas Athletics through winning teams and good sportsmanship.

Texarkana Citizens Council Regroups

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—A group was to meet tonight to reorganize the Texarkana Citizens Council.

The council sent out a letter inviting persons to attend the meeting. The letter said the council to be organized will be "in part a remobilization of the council which was active a few years ago and in part a new venture, as the link with the national organization (the Citizens Councils of America) will be stronger."

The letter said the results of the November presidential election are "mistakenly, we believe, interpreted by some to justify both national disarmament and extreme race-mixing."

"Yet we know that no only in 26 million who voted for Senator Goldwater but also most of the 41 million who voted for President Johnson are fully determined to keep this country independent, and the black and white races socially separate."

The letter carried the names of four Texarkana businessmen.

"DEAR ABBY"

IT'S NOT LOGICAL, LADY!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: For two years I was a widow with five children under 12. Then I married a man who claimed he loved me very much, but he acts like he has someone on the side. He was married before, and told me he divorced his wife because she was so cold. Believe me, he can't use that excuse about me. He has the kind of job that he can leave any time. He seems to have so many unscheduled and late business appointments that I am suspicious. I've never found any proof, like lipstick on his clothes or telephone numbers in his pocket, but I've got a feeling there's somebody else. Can it be my imagination?

SUSPICIOUS

Dear Suspicious: It must be! Any man who after one unsuccessful marriage, tries it again with a widow with five children (under 12 yet!) has got to be mad about the woman.

Dear Abby: This has happened to me twice already and I want to know the reason. I have been invited to and have attended two bridal showers. Both were very nice, but I was not invited to the main event—the wedding. Is this proper etiquette? Or is it just plain ignorance? I know some other ladies who have received the same treatment. Both these brides had big church weddings and receptions following, but some of us who were invited to showers were not good enough for the main event. Sign me—

NOT GOOD ENOUGH

Dear Not: Some "showers" lately have degenerated into a big "collection" in which nobodies care who gets soaked. If you were "good enough" to be invited to the shower, it seems to me that unless the wedding was limited only to family and a few very close friends, you should have been, "Good enough" for the wedding.

Dear Abby: With all the modern packaging why is it that when a person buys a pound of brown sugar it has to be repackaged immediately after it has been opened or the next time you want to use it you'll have a block of brown "cement"? I am mad. I just smashed my finger with a hammer trying to break up a block of brown sugar. I am sure the brown sugar package has not changed in 100 years. Please print this, Abby. It might wake up the people who package it.

KAY

Dear Kay: This is not a household hints column, but if you transfer the brown sugar into an airtight jar, put a little wad of damp paper toweling in the jar, and keep it in your refrigerator, you'll not have any problem.

Dear Abby: There's a television program for kids with a talking goldfish who gives advice. He is sort of the DEAR ABBY of television, but, of course, they don't call him that. Why do you suppose anyone would write to a goldfish for advice?

ROBB ROSS

Dear Robb: I'll bite.

Your Federal Income Tax, a Best Seller

WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember the swimming pool and oil-well towers that caused such a fuss last April?

Well, they aren't in the new "Your Federal Income Tax." But that's not all the Internal Revenue Service left out of its popular guide.

It rolled off 300,000 copies without realizing some of Acting Commissioner Bertrand M. Harding's opening statement got lost somewhere on its way to the printers.

When you're in the grim business of collecting taxes, though, you take things in stride. So, the presses were stopped, the lost copy inserted, and another million or so booklets were run off.

The 300,000 offenders? They are being retained for "internal use," a spokesman said without getting terribly explicit.

That swimming pool and oil-well towers?

They got the revenue service into hot water with some oil men last spring when they were used to illustrate the controversial oil depletion allowance.

The oil men thought the illustration implied favorable tax treatment. Mortimer M. Caplin, who then was the tax commissioner, said nothing of the sort was intended, but he promised it wouldn't appear in the 1965 edition.

So the tax men explain the addressed stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

Stone Hurlers Are Potent Politically

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A teen-age boy brandishing a stick or hurling stones is no fearsome sight.

Multiply him by thousands, abandon him an dhis brethren to unscrupulous and opportunistic leaders, and he can bring down governments.

In the wave of student violence in Asia, Africa and Latin America, the participants' ages ranged from preteens to overripe maturity. In the mass they are not just kids on a rampage, but an explosive political force.

How many of the outbursts are spontaneous? How many are provoked by legitimate student leaders? What impels students to violence?

Stormy student participation in politics is an old European custom, transplanted as a heritage of colonial times to Asia, Africa and most of the Western Hemisphere.

This tradition has not taken root extensively in the United States, probably because in a nation blessed with more freedom and opportunity than the Old World ever knew, students had less time for or interest in politics.

But the fever is contagious. There are occasional offshoots of it in the United States, such as the current incidents at the University of California at Berkeley.

The Old World idea — strong in Latin America and prevalent in much of the rest of the world — is that the grounds of the university are sacrosanct, beyond government authority and are indeed practically autonomous.

In the pre-nuclear age, when the world was not so compressed a package, the university was the training ground for future leaders through exposure to problems of political and social justice. The tradition persists, but today it is an explosive agent in a time of intense global contest. The student — member of the elite and a potential future leader — becomes a prime target of opportunities of right or left intent on power.

In the intellectual violence around the world, there are several types of students involved.

One is "the perennial student." Often he is a Communist. Depletion allowance this time without any pictorial help.

A best seller, "Your Federal Income Tax" has been upped in price from 40 cents to 50 cents a copy, obtainable at district IRS offices.

Vary Fine Frozen Vegetables

Don't turn your back on tradition. Plan the tried and true holiday meals that everyone loves, but add your own delightful touch. Nothing goes better with the traditional bird than Brussels sprouts, but this year serve the new frozen baby Brussels sprouts — tender little globes of a delicate flavor — and prepare them as:

Brussels Sprouts Lyonnaise

2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen baby Brussels sprouts
4 slices bacon, diced

1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Cook Brussels sprouts as directed on package. Drain. Sauté bacon and onion until bacon is crisp and onion is browned. Add parsley, salt, and paprika. Pour over Brussels sprouts. Makes 6 servings.

New Mix Makes Fabulous Desserts

Here's a new deluxe dessert mix you can count on to create a wide variety of glamorous desserts that taste as good as they look. Just add cold milk and water to the mix, then whip and chill.

You can make creamy pies, layered parfaits, elegant molds and many frozen delicacies with this dessert mix. Try it during the holidays to highlight family or party menus.

Molded Egg Nog Whip

2 packages vanilla whipped dessert mix
1 cup cold milk

1 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 teaspoon rum extract

In small, deep, narrow bowl, thoroughly blend dessert mix and milk. Whip at high speed of electric mixer 1 minute — mixture will be very thick. Blend in water. Whip at medium speed about 2 minutes. Fold in nutmeg and rum extract. Spoon into a 1 1/2-quart mold. Chill 3 hours or more. Unmold. Serve plain or with a custard or fruit sauce, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Services Can Not Agree on Belt Buckles

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three years ago today, the chief of the newly created Defense Supply Agency beamed at reporters and announced his first victory in a campaign to end wasteful buying practices by the armed services.

Folding his arms contentedly Lt. Gen. Andrew T. McNamara said he had decreed that all the armed services should standardize on a single belt buckle design and that it would be made of black coated metal.

As it turned out, McNamara's victory claim was a bit premature.

Since then, the general has retired from the Army, his place in DSA has been taken by a Navy admiral — and the all-service belt buckle still isn't a reality.

There are those who believe it may never be.

The Defense Supply Agency was on of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's earliest ideas for saving millions of dollars.

He hopes to do this by combining the purchasing of thousands of items used by all the services — clothing, foods, auto parts, and many others. The aim: to eliminate duplication of efforts, sometimes even competition among the services for the same thing.

After creating DSA in late 1961, the secretary appointed Gen. McNamara — no relative — to head the new agency. The general was once the Army's chief quartermaster.

One of the first questions to confront the general was this one: Why should the services use different kinds of belt buckles?

Army, Navy and Air Force men wore gold or silver ones. They were less expensive than the metal buckles favored by the Marines.

The Marine buckle was said to come in handy opening beer bottles, but it wasn't this feature that made it more expensive. DSA said the relatively high cost of the Marine buckle was traceable to its heavy copper content.

So Gen. McNamara stepped in and handed down his unification ruling.

The services and industry launched research and development programs. There were laboratory and field tests.

"Indications from field tests conducted by the services are that industry has been unable to produce an acceptable black buckle within reasonable cost limits," the supply agency told The AP.

Until this impasse is resolved — if ever — it appears that Army and Navy men will continue to wear the same buckle costing about 10 1/2 cents each, airmen will support another variety costing about 13 cents and the Marines a third type costing about 35 cents.

South Bend Is Making a Comeback

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—One year ago today, Eugene Heilman, 41, father of two, was fired — along with 6,322 other employees of the Studebaker Corp. in South Bend.

The company, crippled by heavy losses and dismal sales, decided to halt car-making at its huge plant on the south end of this city of 132,445.

The city was stunned. Hard times had been few during the firm's 111 years in South Bend, but on that bleak Dec. 3 the city's unemployment rate soared from 2.1, a 10-year low, to a depressed-area level of 9.1.

For Heilman, Studebaker's decision was frightening. "It's all we know," his pretty blonde wife, Ruth, said in an interview then. "It means selling our property, our home and starting all over again."

A native of South Bend, Heilman like thousands of others—had spent most of his adult life working for Studebaker. His comfortable eight-room house was only four blocks from the plant.

Today the plant is a symbol of the city's determined efforts to avoid panic and meet its problems realistically.

Heilman is back at work at that plant in his job as an assembly-line foreman. But now he works for a new company, Kaiser Jeep Corp., one of four firms that moved to South Bend and relocated in the plant. The firms have hired 1,200 employees, most of them former Studebaker workers, and more are expected to be hired in the spring.

"I was real happy to come back to my old job," Heilman said in a recent interview.

"We had no idea everything would turn out like this," added his wife.

Heilman began his new work June 1 after a series of short-lived jobs, including three months with a railroad in Chicago.

"I didn't like him living in Chicago by himself and me and the boys all alone," said Mrs. Heilman, "so with our savings I bought a small restaurant."

"And — wouldn't you know?" she asked happily. "As soon as we bought the restaurant he got called back to his old jobs."

What started South Bend back on the road was an energetic combination of civic pride and federal initiative.

President Johnson, once alerted to the city's needs, set up a special task force to coordinate efforts "to mitigate immediate hardship and promote long-term economic recovery."

The task force leased a section of the deserted Studebaker plant and set up a huge vocational training program under the Manpower Development and Training Act. Eventually 1,200 former Studebaker workers will be taught new professions and skills in the $281,000 program.

To help the 3,556 former Studebaker workers over 50, project ABLE was undertaken. Aimed at convincing local employers to hire the older workers, the program brought these quick results:

Within months 717 of the over-50 workers had steady jobs.

The number of persons on unemployment benefits dropped from 4,500 in December to 2,000 in April.

The unemployment rate fell steadily during the year. By Nov. 1 it was 5.9, slightly above the national average.

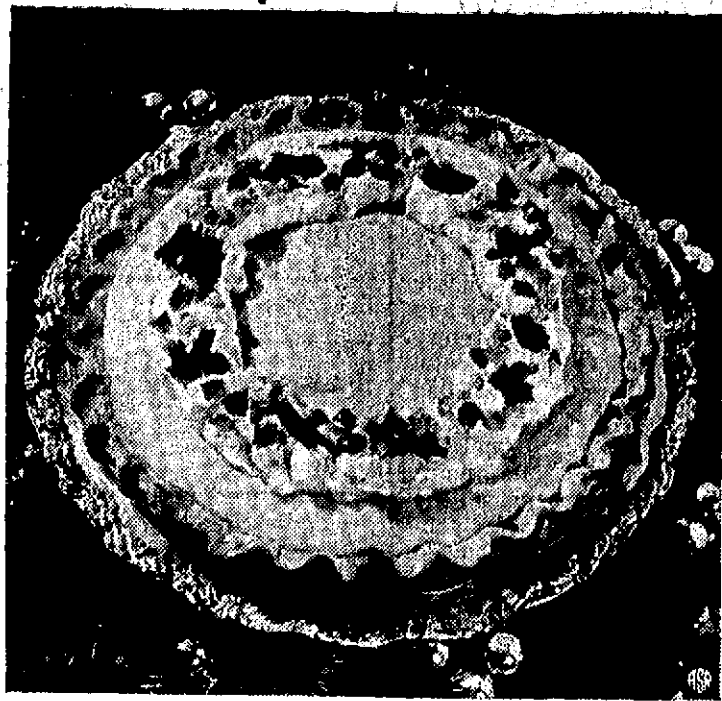

Says Cleve H. Krueger Jr., executive vice president of the First Bank and Trust Co., South Bend's largest:

"What's happened is that everybody overrated the effects of Studebaker's leaving."

Krueger said the four major banks in the area recently reported they were ahead of 1963's pace in every savings-and-loan category.

Pie Eyed at Christmas

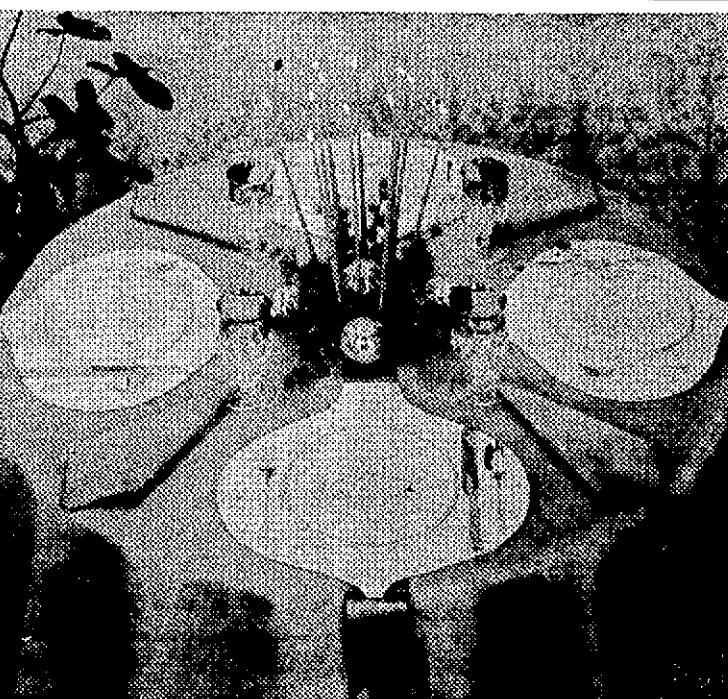

Chiffon pies complete holiday meals with a light, right note. By using commercially-made egg nog, you incorporate a seasonal beverage in a novel dessert. Unflavored gelatin combined with egg nog and whipped cream is the magic ingredient to maintain the airy texture and height of the pie's filling. The gay wreath of whipped cream with a citron and shaved chocolate trim is a colorful invitation for all to join in the eating fun.

Egg Nog Chiffon Pie

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
4 cups bottled egg nog
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, optional
4 teaspoons rum flavoring, optional
1 10-inch baked pie shell

Soften gelatin in 1 cup of the cold egg nog in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water. Add sugar, and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Add remaining egg nog. If additional flavoring is desired, add nutmeg and flavoring. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip gelatin mixture until light and fluffy; fold into whipped cream. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm. Garnish with additional whipped cream, shaved chocolate, chopped maraschino cherries, orange peel and citron. YIELD: 1 10-inch pie.

A small but very festive table for Christmas dinner or supper is a sophisticated combination of lime green tablecloth with shocking pink satin streamers under white place mats cut from thin latex foam. Mats are shaped like ornaments and brightened with white plates and gold lace paper doilies. Tall tapers and pine boughs and tree ornaments make the centerpiece.

thought it would take three to five years to overcome this thing," said J. Frank Hartwig, executive director of the Committee of 100, "but we had phenomenal progress."

"The committee, a civic organization devoted to attracting new plants and businesses, stepped up its activities after Studebaker left."

Along with the four companies at the old Studebaker plant, eight others began operations in the area in 1964. Hartwig said at least 12 more out-of-state firms have tentative agreements to move into South Bend in 1965 and are expected to hire 1,000 more former Studebaker workers.

Now financially stable, the South Bend area has one nagging problem: Unemployment is still too heavy. And despite the high promise for full employment in the future, life is bleak for those out of work now.

A year ago the loss of his job after 21 years was a shock to Thomas Carter, 47, and his family. "We planned on having a fine Christmas, but I just don't know what will happen now," he said then.

Carter finally found a construction job in July. Before that, his wife had worked for

Fulbright Usually Says the Obvious

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright has a habit of making statements which rub against the American grain, for a time, and he gets criticized for them.

They are not self-righteous statements for he is an examiner of the American conscience and self-consciousness, a gadfly on this country's view of the world.

Nor are his statements original in the sense of proposing something new or unheard of. Rather, he acknowledges realities that are not being talked about or justifies policies that exist but on a small or hesitant scale.

At times he is a tart critic of American policy. Added together his statements are among the most thoughtful coming out of American public life, even if they are not all adopted.

Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, made another talk Tuesday at Dallas, this time about building bridges to the Communist world.

It was not popular for him during the 1961 Berlin crisis to say the West was not entirely blameless for Soviet pressure on the German city.

He said at the time: "We bear heavy responsibilities for the stupidities of this situation,

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Here I've been in this town 30 years and I'm just as insecure as the day I arrived."

Henry Fonda smiled ruefully. The fact that he was celebrating three decades as a movie star didn't faze him — "It sure doesn't seem that long." He bears his 59 years fantastically well. His figure remains spare, his face like that of a country boy who has been in the city a few years.

His years of success have been unable to erase the nag of impending failure.

Within the space of 30 years he has had star billing in 57 movies and eight plays and a television series, and never being without work for more than three months. Still, he worries.

Fonda first came to Hollywood in 1934 at the behest of Walter Wanger, who had spotted him in "New Faces" on Broadway.

"Wanger brought me out and put me up at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel," the actor said. "I remember listening in astonishment as Leland Hayward talked Wanger into paying me $1,000 a week. I had been telling Leland that I was a stage actor and didn't want anything to do with pictures."

"But a thousand dollars a week! I had just left a summer theater date in New York where I was getting $35 a week. I was convinced."

After signing with Wanger, Fonda returned to New York to appear in "Farmer Takes a Wife." Fox borrowed him for the film version the following year and he became an instant star.

His film career has had two interruptions, once during his wartime Navy service, again starting in 1948 when he returned to the stage. The lure was inescapable — the part of his lifetime in "Mister Roberts" — and he remained for "Point of No Return" and "Caine Mutiny's lifetime in "Mister Roberts" — and he remained for "Point of No Return" and "Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

"I get my kicks on the stage, but it was a mistake to stay away from films so long," he commented. "I was gone nearly seven years, and memories are pretty short out here."

Brooks Hays to Keep College Job

NEW BRUNSWICK N.J. (AP) — Brooks Hays, former U.S. Congressman from Arkansas will keep his visiting professorship at Rutgers University until Dec. 31, 1965, the university announced.

Hays had the Arthur T. Vanderbilt professor of government chair at Rutgers this year and the university asked him to remain until the end of 1965. The professorship is normally given to a different person each year. Hays is a presidential adviser.

the first time in her life—as a maid earning $17 weekly.

This year there will be a difference. "I'm more hopeful," he said. "I hear the foundry is starting up at the old Studebaker plant again." Carter spent 17 years working in the Studebaker foundry.

Panel Called in Rape-Slaying Case

HAMBURG Ark. (AP)—A 36-man jury panel has been called for the first-degree murder trial of James Williams 33 a Negro of Crossett who is charged in the rape-slaying of Mrs. Thomas Degges 25 a white housewife.

The state was expected to ask the death penalty in the trial which opens today in Ashley County Circuit Court.

Circuit Judge G. B. Colvin denied a change of venue last week saying there was no reason to believe that Williams could not get a fair trial in Ashley County.

Mrs. Degges was abducted from her home in September while her four-year-old son watched. The boy said a Negro man forced her into the trunk of his car.

Her body was found several days later on a deserted logging road near her home.

which is to my shame, as it is to anyone in the West. Certainly it was not just the fault of the Russians."

The Russians then were demanding permanent division of Germany and Allied abandonment of Berlin. They didn't get what they wanted and adjusted to the reality that they couldn't.

The Allies themselves had made concessions to the Russians in 1959 negotiations on Berlin. In short, both sides began years ago to accommodate themselves to the realization that neither side can compel the other to submit to its will without a war which would annihilate both. Their problem, then, is to learn to live together.

This was the main theme of Fulbright's speech Tuesday. It was certainly not original. But his talk was well-reasoned and realistic. Just because it was realistic, it will probably bring him some criticism.

He angered a number of people last March when he suggested, in effect, that President Johnson stop playing to the gallery in his handling of foreign affairs by yielding to the "malady of chronic and excessive caution."

He said then: "An effective foreign policy is one which concerns itself more with innovation abroad than with conciliation at home. It is sometimes necessary for leaders to do unpleasant and unpopular things."

How long will this country and communism have to accommodate themselves to the idea that neither is going to disappear and both will have to live side by side?

"As far into the future," Fulbright said Tuesday, "as we can see we shall be living in a world of diverse and often conflicting interests and ideologies."

And he added: "I do not think there is reason for despair in this state of things. Compromises often turn out to be very much more tolerable than they seem when they are being made and victories even more often turn out to be bitter disappointments. Democracy itself is built on this view of human nature."

He suggested this country try to build bridges to the various countries of communism — but not to Red China until some day its fanatics disappear and it ceases aggression and subversion — but he would vary the kind of bridges, depending on the particular Communist country.

"The building of bridges," he said, "means nothing more than the opening of normal contacts and communications across a chasm of misunderstanding."

This country has already done, and is doing, that although not on a feverish scale. So here again Fulbright was only stating the obvious but in a common sense way.

He said it is this country's "crusading tendency, so noble in intent, so potentially destructive in its consequences, that we must guard against in our relations with the Communist world."

Overplanting Could Injure E. Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—Cotton remains king in this delta land of East Arkansas.

More than 65,000 acres of it are farmed almost in plantation style, but with modern machinery and under a complex set of rules of the federal government.

The government says the rules have been broken — and the penalties could range from financial slaps on the wrist to fines of $50,000.

While the Agriculture Department is determining just how severely the rules were broken and what the penalties will be, a majority of the cotton produced in St. Francis County is padlocked, so to speak, and the cash flow is considerably slowed.

Simply stated, the problem is this: Farmers receive an acreage allotment for each year's plantings and must abide by it in order to keep the supply near the demand.

The government offers a price guarantee to those abiding by the rules. Those who do not are ineligible for the parity and for federal loans and are forced to sell their cotton on the open market for the going price.

They are also subject to a fine of 20.4 cents a pound for overproduced cotton. Last year the county produced 37.5 million pounds.

The Agriculture Department says some 1,200 farms in the county broke the rules.

The farmer who may get a penalty hesitates to buy new equipment or land or make improvements until he finds out how hard he is going to be hit.

The federal land bank office in St. Louis says that at the beginning of harvest this fall, there were 217 loans outstanding, amounting to $3,615,547.

This does not include personal loans from banks or other indebtedness, on such things as farm machinery and improvements.

Some farmers have complained that the checking out of the plantings is going so slow it may be next spring before all of the penalty situations are known.

This, they say, would throw them hopelessly behind in the usual fall preparations for the coming crop.

The Agriculture Department says it is doing everything possible to expedite the work.

Officials said the department has had as many as 14 inspectors in the county at one time checking on farm compliance.

It appears, they said, that there may have been some errors and undue delays locally in measuring plantings of individual farms, with the result that operators unknowingly overplanted.

Overplanting in itself is not a violation involving criminal prosecution. Signing of documents giving false information about the acreage planted is.

The Agriculture Department said in mid-November that there apparently has been "lax administration" of the cotton act since compliance officers are supposed to measure planted acreage to make certain that farmers plant within their allotments.

He said one St. Francis County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service officer had been suspended, pending a hearing.

The ASCS administers the cotton and other farm programs of the USDA.

Whether there will be indictments filed in the investigation, is now known.

Jim Gallman, chief assistant to Robert D. Smith of Little Rock, U.S. district attorney for Eastern Arkansas, said he is unaware of any such action being planned at this time. The U.S. attorney general's office says any charges would be handled by Gallman's office.

LAST WORDS—The West German state mint of Baden-Wuerttemberg has issued this coin in commemoration of the first anniversary of John Kennedy's death. It bears the words from the last sentence of the speech he was to present in Dallas on the day of his death.

FAY WRAY: The film, "Viva Villa," may be lost to history, but the face of Fay Wray, who appeared in it, is remembered still.

MRS. RISKIN: For her the magic has gone out of filmmaking, but she prefers the role she leads today.

Disagrees With Road Bond Plan

CAMDEN Ark. (AP) — Rep. Jim Brandon of Pulaski County said here Tuesday that the greatest challenge facing the 1965 state legislature is the calling of a constitutional convention.

Brandon said he disagreed with a suggestion that a rural road program of improvements should be financed by a $150 million bond issue supported by a one-cent increase in the state gasoline tax. Gov. Orval E. Faubus has suggested such a plan for road improvements.

"With a new constitution building in the proper safeguards then Arkansas can consider bond issues and proposals for new taxes," Brandon said.

African Bloc at UN Split on Stand

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP) — Smoldering differences inside the African bloc at the United Nations were expected to flare up today when the Security Council launches debate on the Congo.

The first sparks may fly when the council gives the floor to Liberia and Nigeria. Both defended the United States and Belgium against charges by other African nations that the American-Belgian rescue mission to Stanleyville was a flagrant act of interference in the Congo.

A blowup was considered certain when Congo Premier Moïse Tshombe arrives Saturday to tell the council of massacre and mutilation by the Congolese rebels and to accuse several African states of aiding the Communist-backed rebellion.

A number of African governments have denounced Tshombe for using white mercenaries against the rebels and have accused him of seeking Western intervention to bolster his government. His appearance before the council was expected to bring protests and denunciations reminiscent of the storm touched off by his attempt to attend an African unity meeting in Cairo several months ago.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak who will represent his government in the debate was also expected to be the target of bitter attacks from many members of the 34-nation African bloc.

But some of the African nations who called for the council meeting to air their charges against the United States and Belgium were said to be having second thoughts in view of recent developments.

Since Belgium as promised has pulled out the paratroops flown to Stanleyville in American transport planes to rescue foreign hostages the Africans may find it difficult to generate much heat over that mission.

Instead they have furnished Tshombe a platform from which to repeat his accusations that Algeria the United Arab Republic and others have been aiding the rebels with arms and money.

In advance of his arrival Tshombe sent to U.N. delegates 350 copies of a white book telling of rebel atrocities in the Congo including cannibalism and torture.

Van Vooren finds that occasional, carefully selected appearances on television have a tonic effect on her career as a supper club singer and as a star in dramatic and musical stock.

Her favorite area of television exposure is panel or game programs.

"Television chews up material fast," she mourned. "If you are a singer playing the clubs, you can't expect the public to pay to listen to the same performance they have already seen — for nothing — on television."

On the other hand, she has found that the public likes to see in person the performers they have seen on the small screens.

"So the panel show is perfect," she continued. "The public has a chance to know you. It is painless — no material to learn, no rehearsals — and your act is still fresh for the live audiences."

Financial rewards of the panel show are hardly startling by show business standards. The average professional signed for five daytime game shows usually gets $1,000 for the week's work. A one-shot guest appearance on a nighttime show pays the same amount.

The "Tonight Show" under Johnny Carson's benign reign pays the same $320 it maintained during the turbulent Jack Paar days. But Carson exposure is great for performers and they welcome invitations to appear.

Maurice Chevalier, looking perhaps a little older, was back exerting his ageless charm in a delightful Telephone Hour on NBC Tuesday night.

He sang some of his famous songs, even did a little dancing. The show — which was live — was a dandy and full of musical contrasts, from Pete Fountain's clarinet to Stanley Holloway's

Being Santa Claus No Easy Task

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Think it's easy to be Santa Claus?

John J. Ford, new head of the Volunteers of America, recruiters of sidewalk Santas for Philadelphia's needy, says training Santa "is a very expensive and involved project."

"They must learn to handle people and how to talk to children."

"They must never promise a child that he will get any particular present."

"If asked directly if they are the real Santa Claus, they must say that they are Santa's helpers."

"They must also remember never to eat garlic or onions before they go onto the street corners."

Hopeful Plan Will Satisfy Rebel Group

By CLAUDE V. BURGETT

BERKELEY Calif. (AP) — The University of California faculty's Academic Senate has adopted a resolution it hopes will bring peace in the prolonged student-administration battle over political activities.

Leaders of the Free Speech Movement — the group which staged four massive sit-in demonstrations on the campus in 1964 — proclaimed victory immediately after the vote Tuesday night.

They called off their strike until Dec. 18 when the university's Board of Regents meet in Los Angeles to consider the Academic Senate's five-point proposal. Regents must accept the resolution before it is off the table.

Rebel students Tuesday night celebrated the Senate's vote and the 22nd birthday of Mario Savio leader of the dissident group.

University President Clark Kerr a member of the Board of Regents and one of the main targets of the movement's attack declined immediate comment on the 1200-member faculty group's resolution which went further in meeting student demands than a proposal endorsed by the administration on Monday.

Savio Manhattan-born philosophy student said free speech members now would concentrate on trying to get charges against those arrested at the Dec. 2-3 demonstration dropped.

Savio termed the Senate's action "magnificent."

A crowd of about 2000 students waiting outside Wheeler Hall erupted with wild screaming when the Senate's vote was announced.

The Free Speech Movement's steering committee issued a statement praising faculty members for their stand.

Only 939 Academic Senate members attended Tuesday's session but all voted. Proposals won out 824 to 115.

The resolution would in effect give the faculty — rather than the administration — final authority over disciplining students who violate university regulations.

Included in the proposal were these points:

—That there shall be no university disciplinary action against students or organizations for activities prior to Tuesday in connection with political activities.

—That time place and manner of conducting political activity on-campus shall be subject to reasonable regulation to prevent interference with normal functions on the university.

—That content of speech or advocacy should not be restricted by the university and off-campus student political activities shall not be subject to university regulations.

—Future disciplinary measures for political activities shall be determined by a committee appointed by the Berkeley division of the Academic Senate.

—A pledge by all members of the university community to back faculty efforts to return the school to its normal function.

1.5 Million Bales of State Cotton

Arkansan One of Three Killed

FORT SMITH Ark. (AP) — The widow of Sgt. L.C. Guy Freeland identified Tuesday as one of three American soldiers killed in South Viet Nam said her husband had volunteered for overseas duty.

Mrs. Freeland the former Louise Amos of Lavaca said Freeland gave up his post as Reserve Officer Training Corps instructor at Arkansas Tech in Russellville because he felt he was due for another tour overseas.

Mrs. Freeland said among Freeland's decorations were two Purple Hearts and the Korean Presidential Citation. Freeland was a native of Stuttgart and was a career soldier.

Would Want Share of Bond Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Woodruff County Rep. Jack Oakes says if the state floats a $150 million bond issue, he hopes it all won't go for highways, streets and roads.

"If we borrow $150 million, then we should put $50 million of it into education and research," Oakes said in an interview today. "This would be a modest figure to invest to get us into the competition for the new technical industries."

Oakes is chairman of the Arkansas Economic Expansion Study Commission, established by the 1963 legislature to study the state's economic picture.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus is expected to call a special legislative session in an attempt to set up a $150 million bond issue, financed by a one cent a gallon increase in the gasoline tax, to improve roads, streets and highways.

The entire issue, as discussed so far by the governor, is for those purposes.

Frank Whitbeck of Little Rock a member of the Economic Study Commission, said "economists I have consulted tell me that Arkansas could stand a public debt of $200 million or more, provided the additional $150 million was intelligently put to use in the economy on a well-thought out plan of action over a period of time."

The $150 million bond issue would bring state debt to $193 million since about $8 million in highway bonds will not be paid out until 1972.

Both Oakes and Whitbeck said a $200 million public debt should be in terms of total economies and not just for highways and roads alone.

"Goals need to be set and priorities established," Whitbeck said. "And it is hoped that these goals and priorities will be set by economic considerations and not by politics."

He also had some comments on bond brokerage, a business he said is run "for the most part by honorable men and women."

"However, Whitbeck said, "if the public image is negative, some of the blame must go to the bond houses themselves for they have either failed to make their position clear to the public or they have entered a public arena when they should have stayed out."

EASY GLAZE FOR BACON

Canadian style bacon, that tender strip of cured and smoked pork loin, can become a specialty dish when given a sweet 'n' spicy seasoning. The effective way to do this is to baste the bacon with a tart-sweet glaze of Cider Cinnamon Jelly, easily made with apple cider, red hot cinnamon candies, sugar, and liquid fruit pectin.

Cider Cinnamon Jelly

Yield: about 11 medium glasses
4 cups sweet apple cider
7½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons red cinnamon candies
1 bottle liquid fruit pectin

Measure cider into a very large saucepan. Add sugar and candies and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam with metal spoon, and pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with ½ inch hot paraffin.

Brother's Death Could Bring Charge

TEMPLE CITY Calif. (AP) — Authorities pondered today whether to bring charges against wealthy handsome Timothy W. Nicholson 22 in the gunshot death of his identical twin.

The youthful real estate operator whose relatives control two of the nation's leading industrial concerns awaited the news in the Los Angeles County jail.

He was booked on suspicion of murder Tuesday after sheriff's deputies said they found discrepancies in his story of how his twin Todd F. Nicholson was killed Monday night.

Another reason for the booking the officers said was that the death weapon—a 22-caliber rifle—had been fired twice.

Timothy maintained the shooting was accidental.

The twins were owners also of the Sun Investment & Development Corp. in Phoenix Ariz.

In Phoenix Mrs. E. A. Cudahy Sr. said her husband is an uncle of the twins. Cudahy is honorary board chairman of the Cudahy Packing Co.

She said that another uncle of the Nicholsons is Chamo Carry of Lake Forest Ill. Carry is the retired president of the Pullman Co.

Retarded Care Open to Suggestions

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Council asked the board of the State Hospital and the Children's Colony today to come up with a concrete suggestion about consolidating care for the retarded under the colony board.

Both boards met with the council for about two hours and then got together to discuss the council's request.

Council members appeared to feel that the colony board should have administrative responsibility for all programs for the retarded. The State Hospital now is caring for about 800 adult retarded at its Benton Unit.

But Dr. George W. Jackson, superintendent of the State Hospital, said that the hospital cannot at this time afford to release at this time any additional facilities at Benton. Jackson said that within two years between 200 and 300 additional beds could be made available.

Don Russell, director of the Arkansas Rehabilitation Service, said his agency now is remodeling four buildings for the retarded at Benton and that 320 beds will be available in them within about six months.

Florentz said the colony board has discussed setting up facilities at Benton for the care of custodial cases — those which cannot be educated or trained — and making the colony at Conway a pure training facility.

The two boards were asked to come up with an estimate of the cost of placing the program for the retarded under the colony board. They were asked specifically to determine, if possible, what additional plant facilities or what renovation of existing facilities would be necessary, either at Benton or Conway, to accomplish the job.

Jackson, Florentz and Jake Sklar of Little Rock, chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on the Retarded, agreed that programs for the mentally ill and the retarded should be kept separate.

It was about 10 minutes later that he slipped onto the stool next to me. "Glad to see you got back Blake," he said.

"Hi Blackie!" I said. "Has Jackie been around?"

He motioned to the bartender to serve us. "Not tonight. You didn't see her?"

"No. She had another date. But I thought she might bring him here."

He shook his head. He looked at me. "You didn't have a fight with her last night?"

"No. Why should I?"

The bartender brought a brandy and a Vermouth Cassis. He waited until the bartender went away.

"Maybe you're okay," he said then. "You know about her huh?"

"I know about her. So what?"

"She's a nice kid," he said seriously. "Only I mean kid. She's got all her marbles but some part of her never grew up. Some part stayed about 10 years old. Most guys don't understand it. I try to look after her as much as I can."

"I figured that," I said.

He looked at me again. "You're a pretty nice guy for a cop."

"What?"

"Cop. You're not a gun so you must be a cop or you wouldn't be carrying that rod."

"I thought you spotted it last night. Yeah I'm a sort of cop. Postal cop."

He nodded. "That why you came to my place?"

"No. Jackie brought me last night. I came back tonight because I thought she might be here with her date."

"You know about me?"

"I know about you. It's your business."

"You don't want to ask me any questions?"

"Why should I? If you want to tell me anything you will. Besides you serve a good drink and the house seems to spring once in a while."

He laughed. "There ain't many cops like you Blake. Tell me why you're so interested in Jackie now that you know what the score is?"

I hesitated a minute. "It's complicated," I said finally. "I started being interested because she was a pretty girl and because I thought I might get some information from her. Now I feel pretty much the same kind of paternal interest you do. And I'm still interested for professional reasons. She's out to night with a man I want to find."

Also I don't think he'll be as understanding." I moved on the stool and grimaced as the pain stabbed through me.

"What's the matter with you?" he asked.

"Nothing."

"Yeah?" He looked at me again. "You've got an eye that's going to be a shiner tomorrow. And you move like you had a few busted ribs. Somebody work you over?"

"Yeah!" I said. "I was going to follow Jackie when she went on her date. But there were four guys hanging around who had a different idea."

"Where?"

"In front of the Tomato."

"Who's this guy?"

It was my turn to look at him. I remembered what Lieutenant Pritchard had said and decided to take a chance. "His name is Richard Emery but here he's calling himself Emery Richards. I don't know where he's staying or he wouldn't have kept his date tonight."

"What's the beef against him?"

"Breaking and entering government property grand larceny forgery and murder."

"Record?"

"Three-time loser."

"What's he doing here? Running?"

I shook my head. "He's building up a nest egg, then he's going to take off for Brazil. And quick. He won't be here more than a week."

"He expects me to get a nest

Business in 1965 to Get Rushing Start

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business promises to start next year with a rush of expansion. But how long this will keep up is in doubt. And two clues to this being watched now are tightening profit margins and the current uncertainty in the money markets.

Profits spurted in the first half of 1964 and then held about steady during the summer months. A renewed forward surge in the final months is hoped for but the costs of strikes and other production slowdowns are yet to be tallied.

Many industries are counting on sales totals continuing to mount. But many are finding that it's taking more sales dollars these days to produce profit dollars than it did a few months back. That is because production and distribution costs continue to rise, while in most cases it's been next to impossible to raise prices.

And the urge to expand depends to marked degree on the prospects for comparable profit yields. The margin of profits to sales contracted sharply in the final years of the 1950s and that did much to stem the flow of corporate funds into new plants and equipment.

The margin has expanded in the last few years and this has done much to persuade corporate executives to order another round of expansion.

This year's outlay of about $44.6 billion is 14 per cent higher than the year before. Government estimates now put capital spending in the first half of 1965 at around 8 per cent higher than this year.

Whether businessmen go through with these intentions depends on how business looks a few months from now.

The business spending intentions announced this week by the government were surveyed before a flareup in international money markets cast uncertainty on the future cost of borrowing. U.S. short-term interest rates were raised in response to the jump in the Bank of England bank rate to support a faltering pound sterling.

Official raising of long-term rates here didn't follow. In practice, however, businessmen dicker with their banks and the official rates are guides, not guarantees, of what business loans will cost.

Financial circles are saying it may be a month or two before

Bomber Crashes, Crew Is Killed

NEWINGTON, N.H. (AP) — A B47 jet bomber crashed and burned early today just after takeoff from Pease Air Force Base, killing all four crew members. The bodies were recovered.

The plane came down in snow-covered woods about a quarter of a mile from a runway near this community just outside Portsmouth on New Hampshire's Atlantic coast.

Identities of the victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The plane was attached to the 351st Bomb Squadron of the 100th Bomb Wing.

Probers to See Bobby's Bank Records

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators plan to explore publicly today the bank records of Bobby Baker and a witness who accused him of engineering an alleged political payoff on a government construction contract.

The Senate Rules Committee said one of its investigators, Edward T. Hugler, would testify about an inspection he has made of the bank records of Baker and Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent.

Reynolds swore last week that he was the "bag man" for channeling $25,000 to the 1960 Democratic campaign fund from Matthew H. McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor. McCloskey is a former Democratic fund raiser and former ambassador to Ireland.

The white-haired McCloskey, now retired, told the committee there was "not an ounce of truth in Reynolds testimony."

He said an overpayment, McCloskey & Co. made to Reynolds Insurance firm was just "a goof."

Before Hugler and possibly others testify, the committee scheduled a closed session to discuss its future course in its politically explosive probe of Baker's affairs while he was secretary to the Senates Democratic majority.

Baker resigned under fire Oct. 7, 1963, from his $19,600-a-year post and has refused to answer questions in two appearances before the committee about the fortune he built up while on the Senate payroll.

Reynolds testified that under instructions from Baker he billed McCloskeys firm for about $35,000 more than was due on a performance bond for construction of the District of Columbia Sports Stadium.

As the "bag man," Reynolds said he kept $10,000 of the overpayment and gave the rest to Baker in five lots of $5,000 cash for relay for the 1960 Democratic campaign.

Under instructions from the committee, Hugler examined Baker's and Reynolds' bank records in an effort to find out if he could trace the alleged payments.

At Tuesdays committee hearing Howard Gittis of Philadelphia, a lawyer for McCloskey, denounced Reynolds as a man who has "given false testimony to other federal agencies and who is not worthy of belief."

Calls for a Shakeup of GOP Leaders

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr. called today for reorganization of Republican party machinery but said he is not interested in becoming GOP national chairman.

Taft, defeated for the Senate last month when Ohio went overwhelmingly for President Johnson, brushed aside as "rumors" reports that some party members seeking to oust National Chairman Dean Burch may rally behind him as a possible replacement.

The Ohio congressman said in a telephone interview he has not concerned himself with the matter of the chairmanship because he feels it is much more important for Republicans to set up a continuing organization.

"We should set up a continuing party organization that gives all power centers and organizational units a part in policy formation," he said. "We can't get along just organizing the party for a presidential campaign every four years."

In this connection, Taft backed a proposal unanimously approved by GOP governors in a Denver meeting last week for formation of a policy council on which they, the National Committee, congressional leaders and others would be represented.

Burch, who faces a vote of confidence test at a Jan. 22-23 National Committee meeting, has endorsed the governors' proposal to expand the party leadership. He denied, as they indirectly charged, that he had practiced as chairman any policy of "exclusion" of party progressives.

A scheduled New York meeting today between Sen. Barry Goldwater, the defeated presidential nominee, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower may produce some suggestions for party reorganization.

Taft, who did not subscribe to some of Goldwater's views in the campaign, said he thinks differences between Republicans have been exaggerated.

"I think there is general agreement on the basic philosophy that there is real danger in continuing to build up the federal government," he said. "What differences there are about that are a matter of degree and emphasis."

But Taft said that he thinks there is one issue on which party differences cannot be compromised.

"Our party must continue to maintain a strong position on civil rights," he said. "Those who don't like that are going to have to lump it."

the course of interest rates is clear. And business spending plans may be determined on the cost of financing them — and on the prospects of getting a profit return deemed worthwhile.
